

District Court Judges

Disability Retirement Requirements

If eligible, any District Court Judge who has served five or more years as a District Court Judge or as a County Court Judge may retire on disability. Probate Judge service and/or ERS or TRS transfer service is included in the service requirement of five or more years. The Judge must be unable to perform his or her duties on a full-time basis due to becoming permanently disabled, either physically or mentally. Proof of this disability must be certified by three reputable physicians.
